PALM SPRINGS · LOCAL HISTORY

Inside Frank Sinatra's Palm Springs Estate

Twin Palms at 1148 E Alejo Rd is still the most glamorous address in Palm Springs. The piano-shaped pool, the Rat Pack, and a proposal that changed everything.

Voice & Tone

Expert local neighbor. Never salesperson. Specific, warm, direct. Always Coachella Valley-anchored.

INSTAGRAM CAPTION

Frank Sinatra spent $150,000 building Twin Palms in 1947 — that's over $2 million today. Piano-shaped pool, a bar for 40 guests, and the room where he proposed to Ava Gardner.

It's still standing at 1148 E Alejo Rd, and you can rent it for the weekend. Some addresses carry history that no renovation can touch.

BLOG OPENING (LOCAL HISTORY)

February 1947. A crooner from Hoboken handed his architect a simple brief: build me the most glamorous house in the desert. E. Stewart Williams delivered Twin Palms Estate at 1148 E Alejo Road — and Palm Springs was never the same.

MARKET UPDATE BLOG OPENING

Inventory in the Coachella Valley is up 12% year-over-year, but don't mistake that for a buyer's market across the board. In Palm Springs, homes priced under $900K are still moving in under
